

Learn 4G+ and NextGen Technologies from the Team That Helped Usher in the Wireless Revolution!

Whether it's the world's first GSM, CDMA, CDMA2000, or UMTS technology transfer project, first OEM-independent wireless engineering certification, or the first online wireless technology university, the Eogogics founders have led the industry for over 20 years. With 500 courses and instructors that average 15-30 years of experience, Eogogics expertise is unmatched in breadth or depth. Industry recognized, Eogogics is a sole-source or preferred training provider for well-known companies in the US and abroad, federal and state agencies, national labs, research institutions, universities, and trade associations.

Welcome Booz | Allen | Hamilton

As a strategic training partner, Eogogics offers a series of courses custom designed to the requirements of the BAH Systems Engineer Program.
