

About Eogogics Inc

Eogogics, pronounced “Eoh-gahjix”, is your global knowledge services partner for training, advisory, consulting, R&D, and information services in areas ranging from high-touch to high-tech. Eogogics principals have been engaged in ground-breaking projects worldwide for 20+ years. Our team has individuals with many diverse talents, but they are all tops in their field, love problem-solving, and communicate with clarity and passion. This allows us to offer training and services the way no one else does. While most of our services are performed business-to-business, some – for instance our public classes, self-study courses, and research publications – are accessible to individuals as well.

Eogogics clientele includes organizations, small and large: telecom operators, equipment makers, defense and homeland security contractors, high-tech companies, research labs, healthcare organizations, financial services providers, government agencies, universities, trade associations, and nonprofits worldwide
